A Meeting of the Board of Trade. It has been suggested to us, that it is advisable to call a meeting of the Board of Trade; to consult upon some measures to be adopted in the present financial erisis, for the relief of the community .-Our currency is being daily absorbed, and we shall soon be without a current medium for the transactions of daily life The daily payments into bank are so much reduction in amount of the cur rency; for of all that is paid in, none is re-issued. This exhausting process will soon absorb all the current and bankable funds now in circulation, and we shall be left with nothing but the depreciated and irredeemable bills of other States. The Representatives of the Free Banks wil held a convention at Indianapolis the present week to fix upon some concert of action, and they will need some expression of public sentiment to direct and sustain them in the measures they may adopt for their own, and the public safety. The bills of the Free Banks are and worked, $10 and diploma. to be our only currency-if we are to have any domestic circulation-and the people are deeply interested in their movements; they should be ready to sustain them in any safe and judicious course they may adopt. The State Bank to save its charter will virtually suspend business to avoid suspending specie payments. The people must therefore look to the Free Banka for a circulating medium; and they must give them their support and countenance, and demand that they be sustained by the State authorities. An expression of opinion from the various Boards of Trade in the State would suggest some judicious plan, and strengthen the Free Banks in carrying it out. Some union of action in regard to what shall be received and used for our local currency ought also to be had. There is no other body but the Board of Trade to suggest the proper measures.

Lectures of the Library Association. We are glad to hear that the Lecture Committee of the Library Association have been active in securing the services of several eminent gentlemen for a course of Lectures during the autumn. Such resource for the leisure hours of the evening, will be more attractive and wel come this season than ever, as means of dissipating the gloom and diverting the thoughts for a white from the financial disasters that oppress the community. A stroll with the pure and gifted in the fields of Literature and Science, will make us forget for an hour our daily anx-

There will be an autumn and a winter course of Lectures. The first will be given on the 12th of November ;- the others will be announced in regular succession. A number of popular Lecturers have already been engaged to fill ap pointments. Among them are Bishop Spaulding, Dr. Tyng, Dr. Stone, J. G. Saxe, Horace Greeley, Park Benjamin, and other eminent gentlemen. Our citizens will be called upon in a few days to subscribe for tickets to the first course, and we hope the Committee will be received with a spirit of liberality that shall evince a proper appreciation of their labors by the public. Messrs. Denby and Bingham have used every effort to secure the services of the most popular and talented Lecturers. They are in correspondence with other distinguished gentlemen, who, it is likely, will be induced to visi our city during the winter and give us a pleasant evening's entertainment.

The suspension of the important house of Chouteau, Harrison & Vallee, on Saturday, created a deep sensation in St. Louis, followed as it was by the intelligence of the failure of the old house of P. Chouteau in New York. Chouteau, Harrison & Vallee was the largest and supposed to be the strongest house in St. Louis. They were owners of the famous Iron Mountain, a mine of wealth in itself. They were also the proprietors of the Laclede Rolling Mill in St. Louis, the largest establishment of the kind on the Misaissippi river; -they operated al mines of their own, and were en gaged largely in commercial and manufacturing enterprises of various kinds Their suspension turns out of employment 1000 men from their Rolling Mill mining operations.

This shock in the commercial circles of St. Louis was succeeded by the sus pension of the Banking House of E. W Clark & Brother-the largest private bankers in the Western country-a firm whose exchange business has been heav ier than that of any chartered bank in St. Louis. There must have been "blue Monday" in St. Louis yesterday If the commercial community there can withstand such revulsions as these events will produce, they are safe for the future.

O'T Col. Benton is now deemed out of danger. A telegraphic dispatch from Washington to his relatives in St. Louis on Saturday last, says that he is so much improved that he will, in a few days, be able to ride out. His disease has been a very prostrating one, and he is now only suffering from debility. This will be

Prosecuting Attorney. It will be seen that Major A. L. Robinson has consented to run as an independent candidate for Prosecuting Attorney for the Third Judicial District. The Major is a terror to culprits arraigned before the Courts, and no one can be found who will urge the infliction s of the penalties of the criminal law upon its than the Major. At a time when the administration of criminal law has become so lax, as to afford almost an impunity to crime, the Major is the right man for the place, and his services in the station for which he is a candidate, would confer a public benefit. His long experience gives him peculiar qualifications

TENNESSEE ORTHOGRAPHY. - In obituary notice sent to a Tennessee paper, the writer says the deceased died of 'Tifoid new money" (typhoid pneumonia.) but the disease had nothing to do with the present pressure in the money

The banks of Rhode Island, held convention at Providence on the 29th ult, and after due consideration of all the interests involved in the important meanecessity to save the people from general tion was adopted that the measure be carried into effect. The condition of the banks was reported to be safe and strong the present crisis, the question was either a suspension of business or suspension of

Among those who advocated the suspen-sion were men who had till Saturday held the banks themselves would necessarily lose immensely, and the only thing that could save the laboring people from entering upon the winter with the loss of employment and with no means for the support of their generally approved, and so perfect in its operations as families. No one doubts the evils of a suspension by the banks, and this evil was not denied or attempted to be concealed, but it was regarded as a necessity that, however deplorable, could only be postponed at immense sacrifice, and that would finally come.

The feeling in the street, after the suspension had been made known, was evidently one of relief, and every man looked upon mercantile paper as more valuable than it was before. In New York and Boston the most fearful rates of interest are paid for the few negocia-tions that are effected, and houses whose names have been synonymous with stability and strength are tumbling over.
